This course discusses the central role that religion and culture play in the African American community, from Indigenous Africa to the present. Studies of the Black church, theologies of liberation, the role of women, and other expressions of spirituality in the 20th century will be key throughout the course.