This seminar-style course examines how the global news media cover conflict, natural disasters and other humanitarian crises, with a focus on the Arab and Muslim world, from Africa to Afghanistan.

Through readings, class discussions, films, lectures, case studies and research, students will construct an in-depth understanding of the dynamic interaction among news producers, relief organizations, policymakers, the public, and those directly affected by crisis.

Jour and MENA 496f/596f
Professor Maggy Zanger
T-Th, 11-12:15