EXCELLENCE IN UNDERGRADUATE ACADEMIC ADVISING

UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA
ADVISOR RECOGNITION PROGRAM

SPRING 2015

PURPOSE

The Academic Advising Task Force (AATF) recommended that the University should recognize the finest undergraduate academic advisors of the year with an award that should carry a substantial monetary stipend. Excellent academic advising contributes to the overall improvement of our educational environment. The acknowledgement of outstanding undergraduate academic advising encourages greater support of advising activities on campus, reinforces the importance of advising excellence, and provides incentives and motivation to improve the relationship between UA students, faculty, and staff.

ELIGIBILITY

Any faculty or staff member within a college or department who serves as an academic advisor for undergraduate students is eligible. Academic advisors are distinguished from other student service professionals who also advise, counsel, and coach students, in that academic advisors are designated as the only individuals with institutional authority to review and authorize whether degree requirements have been satisfied. Past recipients of advising awards from the UA Program for Excellence in Undergraduate Academic Advising are not eligible for a period of five years (same category).

Three outstanding advisors will be recognized at an advising awards ceremony in May.

According to the National Academic Advising Association (NACADA), distinguishing characteristics of an outstanding academic advisor may include:

1. Demonstration of a respectful, caring attitude towards advisees, faculty, and staff.
2. Mastery of institutional regulations, policies and procedures.
3. Ability to engage in, promote and support developmental advising.
4. Reinforcement of student self-direction.
5. Support of student progress toward academic and career goals.
6. Active participation in and support of advisor development and training programs.
7. Contributions to, or enrichment of, the advising community.
8. Recognition of the changing nature of the university, college and student body environments and supportive of students in appropriate ways.
9. Sensitive to students’ diverse needs, backgrounds and experiences.
10. Understanding of student concerns with an appreciation for the student point of view.
11. Recognition of campus-wide resources to refer students appropriately to assist them with their academic and career goals and personal needs.
12. Willingness to share advising skills and strategies with colleagues.
13. Collect and distribute data regarding student needs, preferences, and performance for making institutional decisions.
